

Optikos Corporation
107 Audubon Road, Bldg. 3
Wakefield, Massachusetts 01880
Telephone (617) 354-7557
Facsimile (617) 354-5946
E-mail sales@optikos.com

Wakefield, MA. – August 11, 2008 - Optikos is pleased to announce the addition of Kyokko Trading Co, Ltd. of Japan to its global network of representation for its optical metrology products and capabilities.

Jamie Hutchins, VP of Sales and Marketing of Optikos comments “The long standing reputation of Kyokko in Japan is a great complement to the reputation of Optikos. We are extremely happy and optimistic about the new opportunities that can be realized in the Japanese Photonics market. We are honored to be represented by such a well established company and look forward to working with them to advance Optikos’s products in Japan.”

About Optikos Corporation

Optikos Corporation, an ISO 9001 certified company, is the world’s leading manufacturer of equipment for the measurement of optical image quality. Optikos also provides optical product development services helping development, design, and industrial product firms bring their visions to reality. Optikos has received several awards and over 70 patents for its engineering work and continues to develop optically based products for their own product lines and for the consumer and industrial market and life sciences industry. Headquartered in Wakefield, MA Optikos is a privately held engineering consulting and manufacturing firm founded in 1982. Visit www.optikos.com for more information.

About Kyokko Trading Co., Ltd.

Kyokko Trading has enjoyed a reputation as a specialized reseller to the world’s leading manufacturers of state of the art electro-optical instrumentations and the optical solutions. Kyokko has been supplying the light, color and optical radiation measurement instruments and the optical radiation standards to high tech firms and academia in Japan since 1980. Their facility in Tokyo can provide, repair, and offer NIST traceable calibration services and the measurements for various instruments, displays, optical devices and materials. Kyokko was founded in 1980 and is headquartered in Shibuya, Tokyo.